How the Association Reports Crime

The Association reports on confirmed crimes that pose a threat to the community. Our source of crime data is the Towson precinct police crime blog, a third-party crime spotter blog, and our members. Once a crime has occurred in our community, the Association contacts our Towson Police community liaison, Officer Chrystal, who confirms the incident and provides additional details to report to our members. Only at this point will the Association report crime in E-News.

If you know a crime has occurred, please email the Association office and give as many details as possible, so we can contact Officer Chrystal to confirm and report in E-News.

How Can Our Community Help the Police?

- If there is an emergency, call 911.
- If a crime, such as unauthorized entry onto or into any property, vehicle, or structure, has already occurred and there is no current threat, contact the Towson Police Department's non-emergency number at 410-887-2222 to report any non-emergency or already occurred incidents. Reporting these incidents, no matter how small or large, aids police in solving crimes, especially if a crime trend develops.
- Please contact the Association so we can report the crime in E-News. office@rrlraia.org
- Attend the monthly Police & Community Relationship Council meetings held on the 4th Tuesday of each month at 7 pm at Trinity Episcopal Church - Memorial Hall, 120 Allegheny Ave., Towson, MD.

Association Relationship with the Towson Police:

The Association has a long-standing relationship with the Towson Police Precinct. Association board members have met with the community liaison, Officer Chrystal, and the president of the board has a relationship with the Towson Precinct Commander, Captain Schroeder. Members of our board attend the monthly Towson Police Community Relationship Council (PCRC) and report back information that we share with members in E-News.
